Education Methods

A national research committee says that Canada's schools should train students in basic skills and sound work habits—rather than job training.

The committee — reporting on its four-year study at the annual convention of the Canadian Education Association at Saskatoon—said the three R's are being brushed aside by the growing emphasis on teaching highly specialized skills.

The committee says that after surveying more than 12,000 high school graduates and 14,000 who did not complete secondary education, it believes they lack the ability to express themselves well.

The educators say that the three R's should be taught in such a way that they'll be useful on the job and during every-day activities.

Whatever policy our schools follow, it should be one best designed to prepare our youngsters for useful lines.

Horrors Of Death Penalty

Those who oppose capital punishment can often use convincing statistics to prove that persons committing murder are not deterred, at the time, by fear of reprisal death. They either figure they can "get away with it" (as it is believed many murderers do), or commit the crime in a moment of senseless passion. Many murderers who escape the death penalty, often turn out to be good citizens.

An example of this is Jim Williams, convicted murderer, at Florida State Penitentiary, in 1926. A unique occurrence stopped his electrocution after he had been strapped in the chair, the electrodes had been adjusted and the black hood placed over his head.

When the moment came to send the 25-year-old Negro to his death, both the warden and the sheriff refused to pull the switch, each claiming it was the duty of the other. As neither official would consent to do it after a heated argument of twenty minutes, Williams was unstrapped and returned to his cell. For having been tortured in this manner, his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, and shortly, he was sent to work on a state farm.

In 1934, Williams saved the lives of a little girl and her mother who were about to be gored by an enraged bull in an adjacent field and was rewarded with a full pardon.

Feel In Your Pocket First!

Who hasn't felt the annoyance of having sent clothing to the cleaners with money, or other pocket treasures in the pocket all forgotten? Such persons will sympathize with the old lady in Cleveland, Ohio, who is reported to have given away a bundle of old clothes—not knowing it contained her savings of $4,200. She had rejected the usual mattress as piggy-bank and had hidden her savings in a vest pocket not in use. Her husband, ignorant of the tragedy of his act, put the vest in the bundle of old clothes.

He should have felt in the pockets first!

His Example Might Well Be Copied

(FROM HAMILTON NEWS)

When King George and Queen Elizabeth returned to Buckingham Palace after their tour of Canada in 1939, they were asked which city they enjoyed visiting most. Without hesitation, both replied: "Montreal."

That was because the colorful mayor of that city, Camillienne Houde, who later was to come into disfavor because of his attitude towards the war then in the offing, didn't give two hoots for red tape and arranged everything in defiance of protocol.

A famous host and a born entertainer, Houde personally and jovially conducted Their Majesties on a tour of Montreal and dispensed with formalities, leaving the retinue of the Royal visitors aghast. But the King and Queen enjoyed their visit and got a real kick out of their host.

While it would not be advisable for every mayor of a city to be visited to take the informal attitude of Mayor Houde, it is the belief of Canadians that Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, while expecting the respect due them, would be as well satisfied if they could, for a while, get away from the protocol that hedges them while at home.

Iranian Crisis Spurs Tar Sands Project

By T. B. W.

(Editorial Note: Half way round the world, trouble brews in the rich Iranian oil fields. A great world power—Britain—is forced out of this lucrative oil area and looks to the undeveloped but fabulously rich oil deposits of the Alberta Tar Sands).

The promise of greater things to come is shaping up for Edmonton and the province of Alberta in what may be described as glowing colors. It is evident from the results of drilling at the California Standard's 11-11 well, in the Acheson area, approximately 7 miles west of Edmonton, that another major discovery of oil has been made. The well burst into life one Sunday recently in a great column of gas and oil 200 feet high. This discovery is of immediate and great importance to the Edmonton oil field.

While this development was taking place in the orthodox field of oil recovery, an important meeting of oil experts and scientists was held at the Alberta University, in what was described as a symposium on Alberta's vast oil sands deposits in the McMurray area. One hundred delegates representing leading oil and mining companies, research councils, universities and industrial laboratories interested in the problems of extracting the oil from the sand and exploiting the riches of the petroleum resources were present.

It is not generally realized, despite the publicity given it, that these oil riches constitute the biggest reserve of oil anywhere in the world. They are perhaps Alberta's most valuable natural resource. Important developments will doubtless follow the findings of this great symposium.

The delegates received the fullest enlightenment in their discussions with the technical director of the gathering, Sydney M. Blair, on his knowledge of the tar sands and of his tested methods of extracting the oil from the sands economically.

With the world situation what it is, owing to the misguided policy of the Iranian government in its quarrel with the British government over oil, the importance of the Alberta deposits is vastly increased. If the scientists and industrialists who attended the symposium can be convinced that the oil in the McMurray tar sands can be extracted in paying volume the future holds unimaginable progress and industrial development and wealth for Alberta.

The announced objective of making this province the debt free province of the Dominion seems to be within reach of achievement.

War Base in Space

"When there are two moons in the sky" has for ages been used as a synonym for the absolutely improbable. It has at times been garnished by the proposition that one of the moons might consist of green cheese, and except for the color this isn't altogether impossible, according to some German scientists.

It seems that both Russia and the Western powers are racing towards a project of establishing another moon—a very small one—that will circle the earth just as does the now visible moon, and be held in space by a fine balance of gravity between the earth, sun and moon and centrifugal force. It will be kept at a distance of about 300 miles from the earth and could be used as a base from which atomic war heads could be launched. If the Russians own the base, the bombs will come to us; if we own it we presume the bombs will go to Russia.

The idea has not yet escaped the realm of fantasy, because with our limited knowledge of science we can foresee numerous obstacles. How would such a sphere overcome the earth's gravity, and get away from the "pull in" power of the earth that brings numerous heavenly bodies, visible to us as "shooting stars" to our planet daily. If sufficient powers were developed to launch our artificial moon into space, what precision would be required to stop it at the right distance away! We assume men would easily be sent to man the base once it was out there, by small rocket ships, but could they really live in an environment without atmosphere or gravitation? The green cheese? Well, they'll probably build the artificial moon out of more substantial materials than cheese, cheese is likely to be on the ration list of those manning artificial moon No. 1.

HIS HOMEWORK

GOD'S LAWS

Dear Sir—Regarding T. W. Pue's article, "Honesty in the Pulpit." If someone wrote an article without consulting you nor in accordance with facts as you knew them, and signed your name in order to give it the stamp of authority, would you be the liar, or would it be the writer? I'd say the writer.

The same situation occurs regarding the Bible. Dozens of men wrote, according to their beliefs, prejudices, and imaginings, and to give their human ideas authority, claimed it was all from God.

God's unchangeable indisputable Laws control and govern all of us, impartially. The sooner we learn these everlasting laws and harmonize our lives with them, the greater our progress, and the less our suffering and distress. The Golden Rule is one of the most important spiritual laws to live by. It was recognized and taught as far back as 500 B.C.

LIFE OF RILEY?

Dear Sir—Talk about socialism—the farmers have got it already. They start work late in the morning and quit early in the afternoon.

Every time a duck flies by they run out of the house to shoot it. And the government's been trying for years to figure out a way to make them pay income tax.

LABOR CONFAB

Dear Sir—Two national labor conventions have just been held and it seems to me that nothing really constructive has come out of the meetings.

First off, they blasted the government for not putting on price controls. Then the Trades and Labor Congress decided to disassociate itself from the Canadian Congress of Labor. The only good thing that came about was that the unions half heartedly decided to throw out some of the Commies in their organizations.

Dear Sir—I can't help wondering whether amateur aviation is regulated strictly enough in this country. There seem to be so many amateur pilots getting lost, and consequently the boys in the RCAF have to risk their lives in searching for them.

GRAIN AND ORE CARRIERS

Dear Sir—A news report states that Britain is building a new fleet of ore carriers, to service British steel industries; while Canada the wealthy just keeps on talking about Lake grain carriers to serve the Prairie wheat farmers.

Is it possible that the present plugged Prairie wheat storage was "engineered" so as to stamper the West into going overboard for the much ballyhooed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway project?

NINE ALBERTA DISTRICTS CONDUCT SPECIAL COYOTE CONTROL COURSES

Nine districts in the province have conducted schools in Alberta's coyote control program, according to William Lobay, Supervisor of Crop Protection Service.

These are the Municipal Districts of Ponoka, Bonnyville, Cochrane, Wetaskiwin, Bright, Camrose, Stony Plain and Leduc, and local Improvement District No 76 (Breton area). The Municipal Districts of Pincher Creek, Kneehill, Lac Ste. Anne and Red Deer also have applied for the establishment of the program in their districts.

The schools familiarize Pest Control Officers with cyanide "coyote-getters" and the necessary precautions taken when setting up a gun. These include the posting of warning signs in the area and notifying neighbors and local schools of the danger. The "coyote-getters," cyanide cartridges, acenta, bait and other materials are supplied free of cost by the Department of Agriculture.

Summer Resort May Follow North Engineering Project

The first part of the Heart River Diversion Project—a long-term engineering plan to control the unruly rivers of the High Prairie district—was completed recently with the installation of an 1,800-foot long dam on the Heart River, four miles east of the eastern tip of Lake Winagami.

The dam designed to divert the troublesome backwash of the West Prairie River, forces the Heart's upstream flood water through a natural creek and a reservoir into a diversion canal which is a mile and a half long. The river waters then flow through Lake Winagami into a two-mile outlet canal, located at the south end of the lake to carry the diverted water into a creek. The water then passes four miles through the creek, finally returning to the Heart River.

Fish, which once shunned the lake, are now following a clear path from Lesser Slave Lake to Winagami.

Winagami now has provided an ample feed ground for ducks which have gathered in hundreds, attracted by miles of shallow water and slough grass. The duck population in the smaller sloughs in the vicinity of the lake has also increased.

Ducks Unlimited (Canada) have contributed $20,000 to the Heart River project as part of a co-operative program with the Province of Alberta.

The dam has water-power possibilities since there is a 75-foot drop between the level of the Heart River and Lake Winagami.

DEFENCE COSTS RISE

CALGARY, Alta. — (BUP)

Federal Health Minister Paul Martin has warned Canadians that the inconvenience they are suffering because of heavy defence expenditures will increase. Martin said in Calgary that defence expenditures of five billion dollars in the next three years represent a tremendous effort for the country. He added that it is a price that must be paid to maintain the freedom the Canadian people prefer.

Game Department Catches Up To Air Age; Hunting From Aircraft Now Taboo Here

ALBERTA was described as the "Texas of the North" last week in a seven-page spread in Time Magazine. This picture, of a wild well in the Acheson field, west of Edmonton that went on a rampage two weeks ago, was one of the many photographs illustrating the feature. Article said that "for Alberta, the brimming best is yet to come."

School Holiday For Royal Visit

October 11, the day Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip visit Calgary, may be declared a school holiday in Southern Alberta.

A provincial government spokesman said the question is now under consideration and no final decision has been made.

A school holiday will be unnecessary in the northern half since the Royal couple will be in Edmonton on Saturday, October 20, when children are holidaying from school anyway.

Alberta's game department has caught up with the fast-moving air age.

The department announced new regulations to prevent the use of aircraft for locating spotting, searching for or worrying game.

Hunters flying to game areas are now required to take out a departmental permit, and a maximum penalty for breaking the new law is $200 or three months imprisonment.

The regulations were patterned along those passed a year ago in British Columbia, where game authorities became alarmed at the rising influx of American flying hunters. B.C. authorities took action when they discovered the Department of Transport was unable to keep track of all the planes entering B.C. game country.

An Alberta authority said local hunters also have been turning more and more to the use of planes and this type of hunting was not considered sportsmanlike.

From 1939 to 1949 Canada's gross national production increased from $5,598 million to $16,382 million; in the period labor income increased from $2,583 million to $7,800 million and corporate profits after taxes increased from $506 million to $1,171 million.

Lakes Named After Military Heroes

The Alberta Geographical Board announced the naming of Wood Lake after Regimental Sergeant Major James Deans Wood, the first Canadian soldier to die in Korea.

Wood Lake is two and a quarter miles south of Grande Prairie. RSM Wood, who won the Distinguished Conduct Medal in Italy during World War II, died in Korea last January 18 in a mine demonstration accident.

Born in Ranfurly, Alberta, he was the son of Mrs. Mary N. L. Wood, of Calgary.

The board also announced the naming of Colquhoun Creek, between Wembley and Beaverlodge, in honor of Flt. Lt. I. L. Colquhoun, of Edmonton, who was presumed dead while serving in the RCAF overseas in the last war.

Farmers Get Help On Grain Storage

REGINA (BUP) — Saskatchewan Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollelt said immediate relief is on its way to farmers who are dumping grain on the ground in Northwestern Saskatchewan because of the box-car shortage.

Nollelt said he had wired federal Transport Controller Roy Milner appealing for immediate allocation of boxcars to the area. He says Milner promised in a wire to release enough cars to clear the area "immediately."

It is the first definite step yet taken by Milner to ease Saskatchewan's plugged grain storage situation.

During the first few days after enrollment the students will hold their annual Frosh week. Elections in each faculty will be held a week from today.

The Lighter Side

Overcharged
Mrs. Jones returned from a visit to the doctor very cross indeed. "Do you know that he charged me three dollars for painting my throat with iodine?" she complained.
"I don't call that very much," replied Mrs. Brown.
"Not much!" said Mrs. Jones.

"Why, I had my kitchen white-washed all over for five."

Not Guilty
Rural Magistrate—"I'll have to fine ye a dollar, Jeff."
Jeff—"I'll have to berry it off ye, Jedge."
Magistrate—"Great snakes. It was only to git the dollar that I was finin' ye. Git out! Ye ain't guilty, anyway."

Brigade Of Citizens Save Okanagan Crop

KELOWNA, B.C. — (BUP) — A brigade of school kids, housewives and businessmen turned out over the week-end to save the Okanagan Valley's apple crop.

Growers in the rich British Columbia fruit belt said the emergency caused by freakishly rapid maturity of McIntosh apples had been met.

The local turnout was swelled by an army of pickers from all parts of the province which descended on the Kelowna area in response to radio appeals.

Packinghouse managers in Kelowna estimated that from 30 to 50 per cent of the McIntosh apple crop now is under cover.

This year's crop, though 2,000,000 boxes smaller than the 1950 yield, still is expected to reach 5,500,000 boxes.

Over 1,000 school children from the Kelowna area flocked to the orchards as schools closed

Friday to provide pickers. Housewives donned slacks and business swapped suits for overalls in the drive to save the crop which supports the Okanagan Valley's economy.

Growers discovered too late that this year's fast-maturing apple crop also had developed weak stems, probably as a result of the hard winter.

About 30 per cent of the crop already has fallen from the trees and will have to be salvaged through the manufacture of cider and apple juice for canning.

Pickers report that when they touch one apple on a bough, half a dozen or more tumble to the ground.

The majority of the packing houses are running two shifts to keep up with the flood of apples coming in from the orchards.

Africa is within ten miles of Europe.

11,000 Pensioners Not Yet Registered

Federal Health and Welfare Minister Hon. Paul Martin, said yesterday that only 18,000 out of a possible 24,000 persons here had registered for their old age pensions.

He told a Sun Reporter that this was caused partly by the trouble the pensioners were having in proving their age.

PROTECT YOUR CROP INVESTMENT BY WINDROWING THE McCORMICK-DEERING WAY

To prevent any damage to your grain crop from weather, insects, weeds or moisture, windrowing before threshing is certainly a step forward in farming practices—especially when done the McCormick-Deering way!

The No. 120 Windrower (12 or 15-foot size) handles the grain quickly and easily in its smooth operation. Adjusts to crops of all heights. Completely power-driven, it has the light draft that comes from use of numerous ball and roller bearings, and gears running in oil. The No. 6, in 6 and 8-foot sizes, is built for use on smaller acreages.

You'll probably agree with us that windrowing can mean a better grade of grain under many conditions... and now we'd like to point out how well a McCormick-Deering Windrower can do this job for you. Stop by next time you're in town.

Low-built windrower bends stubble.

Grain laid like lattice on rising stubble.

Off ground windrow permits free air circulation.
